Cincinnati, O., Jan. 13.—The special meeting of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway company stockholders was one of the most harmonious gatherings of the stockholders of that company that has ever taken place.

The much-heralded opposition to the plans laid out by the directors of the road did not materialize. The meeting turned out exactly as Mr. Eugene Zimmerman stated, a unanimous indorsement of all that has been done by the officials of the company. Mr. Zimmerman and his associates were highly complimented by the stockholders present and a bright future was predicted by all for the new Great Central Route.

It developed that the Mr. Hilands, of Chicago, who was reported ready to cause a great deal of trouble at the meeting is not even a stockholder of the road. Mr. John B. Manning, the aged capitalist of New York city, who owns in preferred and common of C., H. and D. stock over 2,700 shares, was not present at the meeting. As stated in yesterday's Enquirer, he was heartily in accord with all that has been done, and turned over his proxy to Mr. Zimmerman. Mr. Manning and his son left yesterday for the North.

Besides Mr. Zimmerman there were present at the meeting Messrs. George Hafer, Rudolph Kleybolte, Thomas J. Walsh, E. N. Laralde and William C. Compton.

The meeting organized by electing Mr. Zimmerman Chairman and Thomas J. Walsh Secretary. Mr. Zimmerman held 129,725 shares in proxies out of the 135,545 shares represented at the meeting. Only 13,710 shares were absent out of the complete voting power of the company. This is the largest representation of stock at any meeting in the history of the C., H. and D.

The stockholders voted unanimously to adopt all of the propositions submitted by the directors in a circular letter to them. They call for—

1. Authorizing the placing of $50,000,000 bond issue for the purpose of betterments, liquidating floating indebtedness, and, if deemed advisable, for the purchase of roads held now under a lease.

2. To lease all the railroads and properties of the Pere Marquette.

3. To ratify and confirm traffic arrangement made with the Pere Marquette.

4. To ratify and confirm the contract for purchase of $6,000,000 refunding bonds of the Pere Marquette.

5. To lease that section of the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville which is located in Ohio. To acquire all of the railways and properties of the C., C. and L. by lease, purchase or otherwise.

By the action of the stockholders the C., H. and D. now controls and owns all of the Pere Marquette railroad and the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville Railway.

The meeting yesterday will not in the least affect the present operating forces of the properties named. The C., H. and D. has been operating the C., C. and L. and the Pere Marquette has been for some time past operated from this city.

Mr. Zimmerman, after the meeting, expressed himself as being pleased with all that had taken place, and predicted that in a very short time the public would see a wonderful change for the better in all points of the Great Central Route, both in physical condition and equipment.

FIVE SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

Portland, Ind., January 13.—Five suspects have been arrested in connection with the cracking of the safe in the Redkey post office yesterday morning and the shooting of Merchant J. C. Turple. The first arrest was Charles Manning, of Springfield, Ill., who is in jail here. Next was John T. Dutches, of Van Wert, Ohio, and a man by the name of E. F. Cook was arrested at Bowers this morning. Cook and Duches were both bound over to the circuit court, and this evening two more suspects were arrested at Converse, Ind.

BIG SALE FOR TONIGHT.

The "Under Southern Skies" company arrived in the city today from Union City, Indiana. The sale for tonight is one of the largest of the season.

"GO AHEAD."

The Heartless Dames Ordered the Driver Who Killed a Woman.

New York, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Kate McGovern, an aged woman, was run down and killed by an electric hansom at Broadway and Fiftieth street. Three women passengers ordered the driver to proceed and he did so, carrying them to a near-by theatre and leaving the victim lying in the street.

A chauffeur in the employ of a cab company was arrested later. He had just returned from the theatre, but had nothing to say regarding the matter. Bail for $1,000 was procured and he was released.

GAMBLERS HURRY TO JERSEY CITY

Jerome Turns His Hounds Loose in the Tenderloin of New York.

General Exodus of Gamblers Results—Many Van Loads of Paraphernalia Moved Across on Ferry.

New York, Jan. 13.—Following District Attorney Jerome's raid yesterday on the gambling house of "Honest John" Kelly, Mr. Jerome today secured a statement similar to that made by Kelly, from "Lou" Ludlam, which resulted in the seizure of a quantity of gambling apparatus in a house which Ludlam admitted had been conducted by him.

The two raids, followed by the report that District Attorney Jerome was prepared to carry on an unrelenting warfare on gambling, created a general especially in the tenderloin district, and during the day many van loads of gambling furniture were removed from reputed gambling houses and hurried across the ferries to Jersey City for security.

Tonight it was said that, with the exception of a few small and obscure places, not a gambling house in the city was doing business.

Police Commissioner McAdoo issued a statement tonight denying the allegation that there was any so-called "man higher up" who interfered with the operations of the police force, and declaring that he had no information to indicate that any of the higher police officials had failed in their duty to suppress gambling.

The police today raided three alleged pool rooms, but only arrested the persons who were evidently in charge.

FINDS TONS OF AMMUNITION IN PORT ARTHUR

Nogi Reports Delivery of Fortress Into His Hands is Completed.

Japanese Take 546 Guns and 65 Ships—Fifty-Nine Forts of Importance Are Also Among Victors' Spoils.

Washingon, Jan. 13.—The following message was received yesterday at the Japanese Legation from Tokio:

"General Nogi reports that the delivery of Port Arthur has been completed. The principal things delivered are as follows:

"Prominent forts, 59; guns 546—54 of large caliber, 149 medium caliber, 343 small caliber; cannon balls, 82,070; ammunition, 30,000 kilograms; rifles, 35,252; horses, 1,920; battleships, 4 (except Sevastopol, damaged and entirely sunk); cruisers, 2; gunboats and destroyers, 14; steamers, 10, besides small steamers numbering 35, which will be usable after slight repairs."

Nachrichten today published a dispatch frim Mukden that the Japanese army facing General Kuropatkin's forces has been re-enforced by 368 siege guns resently used in the investment of Port Arthur, and also by 32,000 infantry, making a total of 388,000 men, and 1,254 guns.

It was reported that there was a case of small pox at the Boop house, on east North street. This is a mistake as there is no small pox there.

prevailing privileges again.

Demonstrations and even disorders on a large scale in the centers of population are regarded by the authorities as possible, accompanied by a recurrence of terrorism by those who believe the bomb is the only weapon with which they can fight absolutism.

Quiet For the Moment.

This last is really considered the likeliest and most deplorable possibility in the near future. For the moment, however, all is quiet in the interior, the people seemingly being absorbed with the Christmas holidays.

No further disorders have occurred in connection with mobilization, the only active movement of any sort noted being demonstrations at Niji Novgorod and Moscow, both being confined to meetings of school professors, who took advantage of the occasion to protest against the disabilities under which they declared the staffs of the universities labored, and adopted resolutions in favor of reforms on the line of the recent Zemstvo memorial, but going further than the Emperor's manifesto.

The meetings at Niji Novgorod were dispersed by the police and several persons outside the hall were injured, but none of them seriously.

BOARD CONVOKED BY ROOSEVELT

Will Revise the Report of the Endicott Harbor Defense Commission Appointed in 1885.

Washingon, Jan. 13.—An important order was issued by President Roosevelt convoking a board, including Secretary Taft as president and seven members of the general staff, to revise the report of the Endicott Harbor Defense Board, appointed in 1885. The board convoked today also is instructed to extend its examinations so as to include estimates and recommendations relative to defense of the insular possessions.

In his order convoking the board the President says:

"The report of the Endicott Board 19 years ago enunciated sound military principles, but since then so many conditions have been materially modified and the engines or implements of war have been so greatly improved and other, untried or unknown, of undoubted value invented, giving a greater advantage to the defense, that it is confidently believed our harbor defense can be completed effectively and satisfactorily with a much less expenditure of money than has been heretofore estimated. With this object in view the board will recommend the armament, fixed and floating, mobile torpedoes, submarine mines and all other defensive appliances that may be necessary to complete the harbor defense with the most economical and advantageous expenditure of money.

"The board will also recommend the order in which the proposed defense shall be completed, so that all the elements of harbor defense may be properly and effectively formed."

NOW RUSSIA SEEMS READY TO FIGHT ON

Confusion Exists Beyond Point That the War Shall Continue Until Peace With Dignity is Possible.

Czar Still is in Doubt as to Witte—While Considering Whether to Give Him Full Sway, He Declines Mirsky's Resignation.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 13.—The government seemingly is about to make the irrevocible decision that prestige abroad and the situation at home require the continuance of the war until peace with dignity is possible. Beyond this point, however, confusion exists, especially regarding the immediate development of the interior situation.

Emperor Nicholas is still apparently vacillating as to whether he shall allow M. White full sway, in the meantime declining to permit Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky to retire.

The latter persists in the view that the confidence of the people in the manner in which the reform manifesto is to be worked out is vital, and that this is impossible if the work is to be left completely in the hands of the bureaucrats.

Direct consultation with the representative classes interested he holds essential.

Only Matter of Time.

It has now been definitely established that the third section of the manifesto as it was originally drafted by Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky provided for presentation of the Zemstvos in the council of the empire, and that it was stricken out against his earnest protest.

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's retirement from the Ministry of the Interior continues to be considered as only a matter of a short time, although there is seeming evidence that the Emperor hopes, by temporizing, to avoid the necessity of concentrating the reins of power in the hands of M. White.

Should a real storm break, however, no one can doubt that M. White is the one strong man in sight who can be called to the bridge.

Lack of Cohesion.

The lack of cohesion and alignment of the forces opposed to the existing state of things, and mutual distrust of each other's program, seems to make anything approaching actual revolution at the present time unworthy of serious consideration.

Socialists, revolutionists and other extreme elements, as well as teh subject races on the borders of Russia, all have different objective, with which the conservative liberals, whom the government really hopes to appease, have little in common; and above all, Russia's unnumbered millions of peasants, although they have manifested an abhorence of war, principally for economic reasons and because it takes their loved ones away, have given almost an evidence of having been stirred by the

COLD WAVE DUE TO RETURN TODAY

Weather Will Be Fair, But Temperature Will Take Sudden Drop.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—The disturbance over the north has reached the Lower St. Lawrence Valley, and high pressure prevails except in the Middle Atlantic States and New England and on the Pacific coast.

General rains and snows have continued over the eastern half of the country.

The weather will be generally fair Friday and Saturday, except on the windward shores of the Great Lakes, where snow flurries will continue.

It will be much colder Friday in the Ohio Valley and lower lake regions. It will continue cold Friday in the West, followed by rising temperate Saturday in the slope region and the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys. The winds on Lake Michigan will be light to fresh northwest to north.

Special forecast: Cold wave warnings are displayed in the Ohio Valley and lower lake region, Central and Eastern Tennessee, Indianapolis and in Southeastern Lower Michigan.

Forecast for Friday and Saturday:

For Illinois and Indiana—Fair, colder Friday. Saturday fair; light to fresh northwest to north winds.

For Lower Michigan—Fair Friday, except snow flurries on the west shore; colder in southeast portion. Saturday fair; fresh northwest to north winds.

For Ohio—Fair; much colder Friday, except snow in northeast portion. Saturday fair, except snow flurries in northeast portion; fresh northwest to north winds.

NAVAL BATTLE IS EXPECTED

And the Scene of the Conflict is in the Indian Ocean.

Where Uri and Rojestvensky Are Nearing Each Other.

LONDON, JANUARY 13.—NAVAL MEN WHO HAVE FOLLOWED THE MOVEMENTS OF THE FLEETS OF ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY AND ADMIRAL URIU, IN COMMAND OF THE JAPANESE SQUADRON NOW SEARCHING THE INDIAN OCEAN FOR THE RUSSIAN BALTIC FLEET, BELIEVE THAT A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE IS IMMINENT, IF IT BE NOT ALREADY IN PROGRESS.

THERE IS GOOD REASON TO BELIEVES THAT THE HOSTILE MEN-OF-WAR ARE CLOSE TO EACH OTHER NOT MANY MILES WEST OF THE CHAGOS ISLANDS, IN THE INDIAN OCEAN. WHILE THIS MAY NOT MEAN A FIGHT, EVEN IT BE TRUE, FOR URIU WAS, IT IS SAID IN TOKYO, SENT OUT FOR THE PURPOSE OF DOING SCOUT DUTY ONLY, EXPERTS DO NOT BELIEVE THAT THE AMERICAN TUTORED COMMANDER WILL OVERLOOK THE OPPORTUNITY TO ENGAGE HIS RUSSIAN ADVERSARY, SHOULD THE OPPORTUNITY PRESENT ITSELF.

EXPLOSION KILLED TWO

Engineer and Fireman Were Badly Mangled.

Locomotive Boiler Burst—Third Man is Seriously Injured by Flying Fragments—Investigation of the Accident Ordered.

Creston, Jan. 12.—Two men were blown to instant death by the explosion of a big Erie locomotive here. A third man was seriously hurt and the engine was demolished, the trucks being the only parts remaining on the track.

The dead are:

FRED KELLER, Galion, engineer.

CHAS. SHELEICK, Galion, fireman.

Frank Newman, Elmira, N. Y., a traveling fireman, was seriously injured. He was taken to Akron and is in a hospital there.

The engine was drawing train No. 14, the east bound Wells-Fargo express. It arrived at 2.30 a. m. At the Wheeling & Lake Erie crossing, the train stopped. A moment later the boiler let go. Keller and his fireman were found terribly disfigured. Death had been instantaneous.

The ground for several hundred feet was strewn with wreckage. The steel plates of the engine were torn and twisted like cardboard. The city was aroused by the noise and a great crowd soon gathered.

An investigation of the accident will be made. It is said that the injector failed to work. As far as is known the engine gave no warning of its condition.

Over a Promised Fortune That

NEVER MATERIALIZED.— WILL BE TRIED BEFORE PROBATE JUDGE MILLER THIS AFTERNOON FOR LARCENY.

Samuel L. Williams, a young man 37 years of age, whose home is at 106 south Pine street, was taken in this morning for safe keeping and the charge of larceny placed opposite his name.

From what can be learned it would seem that the young man has been spending his spare change with a fortune teller who holds forth near Cridersville. Untold wealth had been promised him and Williams became so exercised over being a second Rockefeller that his mind got twisted and while in this condition he made threats to kill a shoemaker down on Spring street and it was in that vicinity that the officer found him this morning.

The prisoner will be taken before Judge Miller this afternoon for a hearing.

THE PUBLIC

Not Slow to Show Their Confidence in One of Lima's Leading Concerns.

For a number of years, the Michael Clothing and Shoe Co. have held semi-annual sales, in January and July which they named "Sweep Sales" for the purpose of disposing of the remainder of stock and to start the next season with all fresh goods. That the public have faith in these sales is evidenced by the hundreds of customers who inquire about these sales before they start and by the thousands who patronize them while they last.

This month's sale began last Tuesday and it began with a swim. If there is a busy store in Lima—it's Michael's. These sales do not last very long, for the simple reason that it's a money losing operation and they can't afford to run them long.

This firm will not resort to any trickery by which they can run these sales for a long time with profit, but they are strictly legitimate cut price sales when the buying public, especially their own customers, have learned to be a positive fact.

Cincinnati, O., Jan 13—The special meeting of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway company stockholders was one of the most harmonious gatherings of the stockholders of that company that has ever taken place

The much-heralded opposition to the plans laid out by the directors of the road did not materialize. The meeting turned out exactly as Mr Eugene Zimmerman stated, a unanimous indorsement of all that has been done by the officials of the company Mr Zimmerman and his associates were highly complimented by the stockholders present and a bright future was predicted by all for the new Great Central Route.

It developed that the Mr. Hilands, of Chicago, who was reported ready to cause a great deal of trouble at the meeting is not even a stockholder of the road. Mr John S Manning, the aged capitalist of New York city, who owns in preferred and common of C, H and D stock over 2700 shares, was not present at the meeting. As stated in yesterday's Enquirer, he was heartily in accord with all that has been done, and turned over his proxy to Mr Zimmerman. Mr Manning and his son left yesterday for the North.

Besides Mr Zimmerman there were present at the meeting Messrs George Hafer Rudolph Kleybolte, Francis J Walsh C N Lanalde and William C. Comyon

The meeting was presided by elector Mr Zimmerman Chairman and Thomas J Walsh Secretary Mr Zimmerman held 129725 shares in proxies out of the 135545 shares represented at the meeting. Only 13,710 shares were left out of the complete voting power of the company This is the largest representation of stock at a meeting in the history of the C H and D

The stockholders voted unanimously to adopt all of the propositions submitted by the directors in a circular letter to them They call for

1. Authorizing the placing of $50 000 000 bond issue for the purpose of betterments, liquidating floating indebtedness, and, if deemed advisable, for the purchase of roads held now under a lease.

2. To lease all the railroads and properties of the Pere Marquette.

3 To ratify and confirm traffic arrangement made with the Pere Marquette.

4. To ratify and confirm the contract for purchase of $6,000,000 refunding bonds of the Pere Marquette.

5. To lease that section of the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville when is located in Ohio. To acquire all of the railways and properties of the C, C and L by lease, purchase or otherwise.

By the action of the stockholders the C, H and D now controls and owns all of the Pere Marquette railroad and the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville Railways.

The meeting yesterday will not in the least affect the present operating forces of the properties named The C, H and D has been operating the C, C and L and the Pere Marquette has been for some time past operated from this city.

Mr. Zimmerman, after the meeting, expressed himself as being pleased with all that had taken place, and predicted that in a very short time the public would see a wonderful change for the better in all points of the Great Central Route, both in physical condition and equipment

The Heartless Dames Ordered the Driver Who Killed a Woman.

New York, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Kate McGovern, an aged woman, was run down and killed by an electric hansom at Broadway and Fiftieth street. Three women passengers ordered the driver to proceed and he did so, carrying them to a near-by theatre and leaving the victim lying in the street

A chauffeur in the employ of a cab company was arrested later. He had just returned from the theatre, but had nothing to say regarding the matter Bail for $1,000 was procured and he was released.

GAMBLERS HURRY TO JERSEY CITY

Jerome Turns His Hounds Loose in the Tenderloin of New York.

General Exodus of Gamblers Results—Many Van Loads of Paraphernalia Moved Across on Ferry.

New York, Jan. 13.—Following District Attorney Jerome's raid yesterday on the gambling house of "Honest John" Kelly, Mr. Jerome today secured a statement similar to that made by Kelly, from "Lou" Ludlam, which resulted in the seizure of a quantity of gambling apparatus in a house which Ludlam admitted had been conducted by him.

The two raids followed by the report that District Attorney Jerome was prepared to carry on an unrelenting warfare on gambling, created a general especially in the tenderloin district, and during the day many van loads of gambling furniture were removed from reputed gambling houses and hurried across the ferries to Jersey City for security.

Tonight it was said that, with the exception of a few small and obscure places, not a gambling house in the city was doing business.

Police Commissioner McAdoo issued a statement tonight denying the allegation that there was any so-called "man higher up" who interfered with the operations of the police force, and declaring that he had no information to indicate that any of the higher police officials had failed in their duty to suppress gambling.

The police today raided three alleged pool rooms, but only arrested the persons who were evidently in charge.

NOW RUSSIA SEEMS READY TO FIGHT ON

Confusion Exists Beyond Point That the War Shall Continue Until Peace With Dignity is Possible.

Czar Still is in Doubt as to Witte—While Considering Whether to Give Him Full Sway, He Declines Mirsky's Resignation.

St. Petersburg, Jan 13—The government seemingly is about to make the irrevocable decision that prestige abroad and the situation at home require the continuance of the war until peace with dignity is possible Beyond this point however, confusion exists, especially regarding the immediate development of the interior situation

Emperor Nicholas is still apparently vacillating as to whether he shall allow M White full sway, in the meantime declining to permit Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky to retire.

The latter persists in the view that the confidence of the people in the manner in which the reform manifesto is to be worked out is vital, and that this is impossible if the work is to be left completely in the hands of the bureaucrats

Direct consultation with the representative classes interested he holds essential

Only Matter of Time.

It has now been definitely established that the third section of the manifesto as it was originally drafted by Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky provided for presentation of the Zemstvos in the council of the empire, and that it was stricken out against his earnest protest

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky's retirement from the Ministry of the Interior continues to be considered as only a matter of short time, although there is seeming evidence that the Emperor hopes, by temporizing, to avoid the necessity of concentrating the reins of power in the hands of M White

Should a real storm break however no one can doubt that M White is the one strong man in sight who can be called to the bridge

Lack of Cohesion.

The lack of cohesion and alignment of the forces opposed to the existing state of things and mutual distrust of each other's program seems to make anything approaching actual revolution at the present time unworthy of serious consideration

Socialists, revolutionists and other extreme elements, as well as ten subject races on the borders of Russia all have different objective with which the conservative liberals, whom the government really hopes to appease have little in common and above all Russia's unnumbered millions of peasants although they have manifested an abhorence of war principally for economic reasons and because it takes their loved ones away have given almost an evidence of having been stirred by the prevailing privileges again.

Demonstrations and even disorders on a large scale in the centers of population are regarded by the authorities as possible, accompanied by a recurrence of terrorism by those who believe the bomb is the only weapon with which they can fight absolutism.

Quiet For the Moment.

This last is really considered the likeliest and most deplorable possibility in the near future. For the moment, however, all is quiet in the interior, the people seemingly being absorbed with the Christmas holidays

No further disorders have occurred in connection with mobilization, the only active movement of any sort noted being demonstrations at Niji Novgorod and Moscow, both being confined to meetings of school professors, who took advantage of the occasion to protest against the disabilities under which they declared the staffs of the universities labored, and adopted resolutions in favor of reforms on the line of the recent Zemstvo memorial, but going further than the Emperor's manifesto.

The meetings at Niji Novgorod were dispersed by the police and several persons outside the hall were injured, but none of them seriously.

BOARD CONVOKED BY ROOSEVELT

Will Revise the Report of the Endicott Harbor Defense Commission Appointed in 1885.

Washington, Jan 13—An important order was issued by President Roosevelt convoking a board, including Secretary Taft as president and seven members of the general staff, to revise the report of the Endicott Harbor Defense Board, appointed in 1885 The board convoked today also is instructed to extend its examinations so as to include estimates and recommendations relative to defense of the insular possessions.

In his order convoking the board the President says

"The report of the Endicott Board 10 years ago enumerated sound military principles, but since then so many conditions have been materially modified and the engines or implements of war have been so greatly improved and other, untried or unknown, of undoubted value invented, giving a greater advantage to the defense, that it is confidently believed our harbor defense can be completed effectively and satisfactorily with a much less expenditure of money than has been heretofore estimated. With this object in view the board will recommend the armament, fixed and floating, mobile torpedoes, submarine mines and all other defensive appliances that may be necessary to complete the harbor defense with the most economical and advantageous expenditure of money.

"The board will also recommend the order in which the proposed defense shall be completed, so that all the elements of harbor defense may be properly and effectively formed."

NAVAL BATTLE IS EXPECTED

And the Scene of the Conflict is in the Indian Ocean.

Where Uri and Rojestvensky Are Nearing Each Other.

LONDON JANUARY 13—NAVAL MEN WHO HAVE FOLLOWED THE MOVEMENTS OF THE FLEETS OF ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY AND ADMIRAL URIU, IN COMMAND OF THE JAPANESE SQUADRON NOW SEARCHING THE INDIAN OCEAN FOR THE RUSSIAN BALTIC FLEET, BELIEVE THAT A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE IS IMMINENT, IF IT BE NOT ALREADY IN PROGRESS

THERE IS GOOD REASON TO BELIEVES THAT THE HOSTILE MEN-OF-WAR ARE CLOSE TO EACH OTHER NOT MANY MILES WEST OF THE CHAGOS ISLANDS, IN THE INDIAN OCEAN WHILE THIS MAY NOT MEAN A FIGHT, EVEN IT BE TRUE, FOR URIU WAS, IT IS SAID IN TOKYO SENT OUT FOR THE PURPOSE OF DOING SCOUT DUTY ONLY, EXPERTS DO NOT BELIEVE THAT THE AMERICAN TUTORED COMMANDER WILL OVERLOOK THE OPPORTUNITY TO ENGAGE HIS RUSSIAN ADVERSARY, SHOULD THE OPPORTUNITY PRESENT ITSELF.

POWER OF THE PRESS

Every Evil Could Be Remedied by It.

Bryan Tells How and Why—No Newspaper Can Injure a Just Cause or a Just Man, He Declares.

CHICAGO, JAN. 13.—"EVERY EVIL THAT WE COMPLAIN OF TODAY COULD BE REMEDIED IN ONE YEAR IF THE NEWSPAPERS OF THE COUNTRY UNITEDLY OPPOSED IT."

William Jennings Bryan made this statement last night at a silver jubilee banquet of the Chicago Press club, where he and George Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly, spoke on "The Freedom of the Press."

"We cannot censor our press without suppressing the truth,' said Mr. Bryan.

Can Injure No Just Cause.

"NO NEWSPAPER OR GROUP OF NEWSPAPERS CAN INJURE A CAUSE THAT IS JUST OR A MAN THAT STANDS BY HIS CONVICTIONS.

"In the struggles of today the well-to-do and the educated do not play their part. Reforms come from below and not from above.

I HOPE TO SEE THE DAY WHEN OUR SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MEN WILL DO AS THEY DO IN ENGLAND—PUT A LIMIT TO THEIR MONEY GETTING AND DEVOTE THEIR TIME AND CONSCIOUS TO THE SERVICE OF THEIR COUNTRY."

Pennypacker Scored.

Col. Harvey found a target for sarcasm while speaking on "The Freedom of the Press," in Governor Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, whose recent efforts to put a curb on the newspapers of his state gave him new prominence.

He referred to the governor as "Centime Parker" and dubbed him a "modern Dowieized Elijah" while he performed an artistic feat of "roasting."

AMUSEMENTS

One of the unusual features of Lottie Blair Parker's play of Southern life is that the women of the cast outnumber the men. As a rule the reverse is the case in dramatic offerings. The presence of so many women upon the scene is one of the attractions of the play, especially as many of them are young and pretty. The birthday party of the youthful heroine, and the Hallowe'en festivities, which include the carrying out of some amusing Hallowe'en tricks and a Jack-o-lantern dance, give fine scope for showing the feminine members of the company to advantage. One of the funniest characters in the play is "Anner Lizer," who deserves to rank side by side with the immortal "Topsy." Aunt Doshy too, is a host of fun in herself: a typical southern "auntie"—one of the faithful slaves who clung to the family she loved, though free to leave them if she wished to do so. The South furnished many instances of this devotion upon the part of the older negroes. The part of the heroine, Lelia Crofton, a young Southern belle, is a difficult one to enact, portraying as it does all the emotions from gay and loving light heartedness, to most intense misery and grief. "Under Southern Skies" was written by a woman and it gives women greater opportunity for acting than three or four ordinary dramas. "Under Southern Skies" comes to the Faurot Opera House on tonight.

"The Mummy and the Humming Bird" is an interesting story, told in a clever and convincing manner. It is clean in sentiment and language, and appeals strongly to people of refinement. It has a plot of much originality, and every act abounds in bright and amusing lines. Like all great plays, it has a moral, too—an unmistakable one. It teaches that a man should not become so much engrossed in business as to neglect his wife: that his duty toward her does not end when he confers his name and station upon her. There are many husbands like Lord Lumley who imagine that if a woman is given all the money she wants her happiness should be complete. Yes, and there are any number of wives like Lady Lumley who would gladly forego the creature comforts for a little sympathetic companionship. All husbands may not be so generous as is Lumley when he discovers that somebody else has been furnishing the love and sympathy; but—well, anyway, no husband can see this bright play without realizing that he ought to be something else than a "good provider." "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" comes to the Faurot on tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The little folks love Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Pleasant to take; perfectly harmless; positive cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma.

Specific, Definite and Certain,

Defendant Asks That Petition Recently Filed Against South Side Bank People be Made.

FULL TEXT OF THE PETITION FILED BY J. A. MORRIS, ETC., PLAINTIFF VS. W. W. LEIGHTON, ET AL DEFENDANTS.

Below is a petition filed in the case of J. A. Morris, etc., vs. W. W. Leighton, et al, and is an echo of the recent failure of the South Side Bank:

Now comes the defendant, J. N. Dewey, and asks the Court to require the plaintiff to make more specific, definite and certain his petition filed herein in the following respects:

First:—That he be required to state upon what dates said J. N. Dewey was elected in the years 1903 and 1904 as a director of said company and upon what dates he qualified as such and upon what dates he entered upon the discharge of his duties as such director.

Second:—Defendant asks the Court to require the plaintiff to make more definite and certain the following: "Plaintiff further avers that it is the duty of said directors to elect from their number a president who shall appoint a cashier whose appointment is to be approved by them; to require bond of such officers in an amount to be approved by them for their fidelity, and for the safe keeping and proper application of the funds of said corporation, and the moneys of the depositors and creditors; not to borrow or use the funds of said corporation or permit the same to be borrowed or used by any of its officers, in an amount greater than one half of the amount of stock by him owned; to loan moneys and deposits of said corporation as provided by law; to require the full amount of the stock advertised to be paid in; to make a correct statement of the condition of the said corporation, both to the auditor of the state of Ohio, and to the public, disclosing the true and correct amount of capital stock paid in; to dis-allow and prevent and cause to be prevented any person, corporation, company or firm, either as principal debtor, or as security or indorser for others, for money borrowed, including in the liabilities of such company, or firm, the liabilities of the several members thereof, from at any time becoming liable to said The Lima Savings Bank & Trust Company in an amount exceeding one-fifth (1-5) part of the capital stock of such The Lima Savings Bank & Trust Company actually paid in; to do and perform such other duties as are usual, customary, reasonable, and required by law of directors of like institutions to do and perform." We ask the Court to require plaintiff to state by what authority that duty was imposed upon said directors, the constitution or the by-laws of said corporation, or the general laws of the state.

Third:—Also the following: "Plaintiff further avers that each and all of the enumerated duties herein, the said directors failed to do and perform, and that other duties such as are usual, customary and reasonable and required by law, in like institutions, they also failed to do and perform, as herein appears." We ask the Court to require the plaintiff to make more definite and certain the said allegation, in what respect the directors, "Failed to do and perform the duties enumerated herein." To require plaintiff to specify in detail what enumerated duties the directors failed to perform, and also to require in detail what other duties "such as are usual, customary and reasonable" they failed to do and perform.

Fourth:—Also "Plaintiff further avers that said directors neglected to perform their duties, as such directors, and negligently permitted the moneys, property and effects of the said defendant corporation to be wasted, squandered, misapplied, and misappropriated, by its officers, the president and cashier; that they negligently permited various persons and corporations who were insolvent and irresponsible, to over-draw their accounts, in large amounts and without adequate security, etc., etc." We ask the Court to require the plaintiff to set forth in what year these directors neglected and failed to perform their duties. And to set forth whether it was prior to this ——— day of January, 1903, and what negligence, if any, was committed by the directors in the year 1903, and prior to January, 1904, and to set forth what failure of duty or neglect the directors were guilty of, after January, 1904, and further to state specifically in what respect the said directors were negligent and failed to perform their duties, as alleged in said petition.

Fifth:—"And that a very moderate exercise and performance of their duties expected and required of them, would have prevented the misappropriation of the funds of said corporation and the loss to any of its creditors and depositors." Defendant asks the Court to require plaintiff to make more definite and certain the phrase," a very moderate exercise and performance of their duties as expected and required."

Sixth:—Also "plaintiff further avers that said directors elected, approved and employed a president and cashier, each of whom was incompetent, unfaithful and dishonest; that said directors neglected to cause to be taken and kept in force from the said president and cashier good and sufficient bonds and security for the faithful and honest performance of their duties, and the safe keeping and proper application of the funds of said defendant corporation; that said directors neglected and permitted the said president and cashier of said corporation to continue in their respective offices for a long time without giving any security for the faithful performance of their respective duties; and that the said directors failed and neglected to hold such directors' meeting as were incumbent upon them and as their duty required." The defendant asks the Court to require the plaintiff to state in what years these directors employed a president and cashier, and to set forth wherein said president and cashier were "unfaithful and dishonest," and also to set forth in what years the directors "neglected to cause to be taken and kept in force from the said president and cashier, good and sufficient bonds." And Again to set forth definitely for how long a time the directors caused the president and cashier to continue in their respective offices without giving security. And to state for what period of time the directors failed and neglected to "hold meetings."

Seventh. Also "that said W. W. Leighton while director and president of said company, overdrew his account therein, in a great amount and thereby converted to his own use, wasted, squandered and misapplied the deposits of said company, without giving any security therefor, and that said overdrafts were entered upon the books of said corporation from time to time as they appear, all of which the said directors, by the exercise of the most ordinary care and inspection, might have ascertained." Defendant asks the Court to require the plaintiff to state definitely how much W. W. Leighton overdrew his account, while director and president of said corporation. Also to make more definite and certain how much W. W. Leighton converted to his own use, and how much did he waste, squander and how much was misapplied to him, the said W. W. Leighton. Defendant asks that plaintiff be required to set forth this specifically. And also to state the time when W. W. Leighton squandered the money and wasted it, as set forth herein.

Eighth. "That said negligence of the directors continued during all the time that they held and accepted the office of directors." Defendant asks the Court to require plaintiff to state what years this negligence continued.

Ninth. To require the plaintiff to make definite and certain the following: "That the president and cashier encouraged and aided in the wrongful abstracting and mis-applying of the money and assets of said defendant corporation, by such negligence and gross want of care, by and on the part of other directors, misapplied and appropriated to their own use the money and assets of the said corporation, the property of the Company, depositors and creditors in a very great amount, whereby said plaintiff and all other depositors and creditors of the said corporation, and the corporation itself, has sustained great loss."

This the defendant asks the Court to require the plaintiff to make his petition more definite and certain in this, that he give the dates, amounts and by whom the assets were wrongfully abstracted or misappropriated, as well as the dates and amounts and to whom the moneys and assets of the corporation were loaned or permitted to pass from the possession of said bank, and that he be required, in detail, to set forth the dates, amounts and the nature of the transactions by plaintiff complained of in his petition filed herewith.

THIS IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Lima People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon find out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time. Lima people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. H. B. Core, of 522 west High street, Lima, O., says: "If asked to state my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, I could only repeat the testimonial I gave in 1898. This remedy was used in our family at that time for kidney complaint and backache, and with such gratifying result that I made a public statement telling of our experience and recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to others. It is my opinion that any case of kidney trouble which Doan's Kidney Pills won't cure is beyond help."

The Doctors Told Mr. Frank Kellar, of Rock Island, Ill., He Was in Last Stages of Bright's Disease and Could Not Possibly Live a Month Longer. But

Warner's Safe Cure

Completely Cured Him in Sixty Days.

MR. FRANK KELLAR.

Such a thing as a cure of Bright's Disease or Diabetes was practically unknown until Warner discovered his celebrated "Safe Cure" thirty-five years ago. Since then hundreds of thousands of cases have been cured and are living testimonials to the success of this wonderful medicine in curing all manner of kidney troubles.

"I was in the last stages of Bright's Disease," says Mr. Kellar, "suffering intense agony, and was bloated beyond any semblance of my former self. Doctors said they could do nothing for me, my kidneys were in terrible shape, and I'd die in a month. But on the advice of a friend I began taking Warner's Safe Cure. I felt better from the first, and am rejoiced to tell you that in two months I was completely cured, and for over a year now have had no recurrence of the trouble. My general health was never better. I owe my life to your great medicine, and in justice to my fellow beings, want every man, woman and child to know they can be healed." 711 12th St., Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 12, '04

The subtle and treacherous nature of kidney disease is such that nine victims out of ten do not realize they are afflicted until the last stages have been reached. Dull, grinding pains in the back, side or head; rheumatic twinges and swellings; loss of energy and appetite; sleeplessness, inflammation of the urinary organs; painful and too frequent passing of the water; female troubles, all indicate that your kidneys have been badly affected for months. If there is any doubt in your mind about your condition

MAKE THIS UNFAILING TEST AT HOME: Pour a little morning urine in a bottle or glass and let it stand 24 hours. If a sediment forms, or it's cloudy, or contains floating particles, your kidneys are in serious shape and need immediate treatment with Warner's Safe Cure, which destroys the disease germs, strengthens the weakened and enfeebled organs and gives new life and activity to every part of the body. IN THE BEGINNING GOD

Rev. George Wood Anderson's Sermon on Electricity.

Shows Spiritual Laws in the Scientific World—Masterly Exposition of That Great Force Which Has Startled the World —Lessons Drawn.

Readers of the DAILY NEWS will find the first of a series of ten scientific sermons preached by the Rev. Geo. Wood Anderson at the M. E. church at Buffalo. The fact that the Reverend was for several years pastor of the Epworth M. E. church in this city, will make the sermons unusually interesting.

Spiritual Laws in the Scientific World.

Sermon No. 1.

"Is there a silent and unseen God?"

His presence and discovery illustrated by the silent mysterious workings of the electrical energy.

Text—"In the beginning God." Genesis 1, 1.

The Bible never undertakes to prove the existence of a God, for that would be contrary to the very nature of the book. In writing a letter you never devote any time proving your own existence. Your letter, with its statements about matters concerning which none other could write, is proof enough of your existence. This Book is a letter from God to man, and the fact that it is here, describing with scientific accuracy, an event which no human witnessed; and portraying a country no man's eyes had seen; and explaining spiritual conditions which no man of himself could attain, is proof of the existence of a God as its author.

Manifestations of God.

But while the Bible is silent as to proofs it is everywhere eloquent declaring the existence of the Divine One. Every chapter tells something about Him. The hand of God is shown in the leading of Abraham, and in the guiding of Israel through parted waters and manna strewn deserts. The watchfulness of God is shown in the springs of clear water that gushed from the wayside rocks at the touch of hand. The providence of God is shown in the directing of the caravan that lifted Joseph out of the pit, and the hand of the angel that led Lot out of Sodom. The wisdom of God is manifested in the law He wrote, the proverbs He inspired, and the beatitudes He uttered. The power of God is manifested in the smiting of Egypt, the taking of Canaan, and the miracles of Christ. Everywhere does the Bible teach the presence and controlling power of a mysterious unseen God. Moses begins the Bible by saying: "In the beginning God." John closes the book by striking the chord that it vibrates yet by saying: "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last."

Marvelous Electricity.

But you say, "If there is such an one in the universe why do not all men in all ages know him?" I answer, just as, from the creation, there have been uncounted, unmeasurable, currents of electricity permeating every breath breathed, and every morsel tasted, and every atom pressed beneath the foot, while hundreds of generations knew nothing about them. It is marvelous what tremendous electrical power, although unrecognized, have been surging through this planet, from pole to pole, and sweeping with ever widening currents about its surface. With indescribable force it beats upon us in the form of sunlight. So strong are these golden, electro-magnetic waves that their power is estimated as one horse power for every seven square feet of surface. Could all this energy that leaps from the sun to this old planet be gathered together, its aggregate would equal the combined strength of millions of beasts of burden. Without ceasing, it works away, aiding in chemical composition and decomposition; giving strength to the growing plant, purifying the atmosphere, lifting the vapors, floating the clouds, and storing its energy in every leaf blade and wood fiber, and particle of coal. The energy expended each day in lifting the vapors is equal to the labor of five million horses working ten hours. Enough energy, says one scientist, is slumbering in each dew drop to charge enough Leyden jars to destroy at one blast the House of Parliament. If all this energy that visits this earth each day would manifest itself in heat it would be sufficient to boil a body of water sixty miles thick covering the whole globe; if it would manifest itself entirely in energy it would be equal to one strong athlete standing on every square foot of the world's surface. From the moment of creation that power has been hourly passing in and about this planet, and yet untold millions know it not. Every day it served them, clarifying the atmosphere, strengthening their food and aiding them in a thousand ways, but they recognized not their benefactor. So has it been, states the Bible, with Divine influences. "In the beginning God." From the very beginning of history, silently and unseen, He has been in this world serving men, giving life and health, yet there were whole nations who recognized Him not. Within their grasp were untold spiritual powers, but knowing it not, they stumbled in darkness and weakness to their graves.

It Hath a Soul.

But neither of these forces, the spiritual nor the electrical, was intended to remain a silent and unknown force. Both were intended to be the aid and the helper of mankind. The one to lift the burdens of his daily toil and light his pathway through the gloom; the other was to lift the burden from his soul and light his pathway through the shadows to the city of pure gold. The method of these revelations and the progress that man has made in understanding them have been as strangely similar as were their hours of silence and obscurity. Behold the fascinating chapter of history that records man's struggle in mastering the truths revealed in electrical phenomena. It began two thousand six hundred years ago. After rubbing a bit of amber, the Greeks discovered that it possessed a mysterious attractive power. Naturally superstitious, as soon as they saw it seemingly take on a new life, by merely being rubbed, they said: "It hath a soul!" and then began that famous search for the soul of the amber. Thus the first revelation of that unseen power was clothed with superstition. For years its study was known as a "black art," and played an important part in the magic of the ancients. While experimenting in his secret room, Tullus Hostillius was struck dead with an electric current. In one hour of time the superstitious were telling of how, because of jealousy, Jove had struck him down with a thunderbolt. The mystery of the amber, and the charred body of the dead Tullus Hostillus, so frightened the people, that for centuries electricity was called the enemy and not the friend of man.

Held Up to Ridicule.

Then came a change. After sixteen hundred years, Dr. Gilbert, physician to the Queen, began to study electrical phenomena. He soon discovered that amber did not stand alone, but that there were over twenty other similar attractive properties. His statement once more revived public interest, until Bacon, that man of wide vision, began to ridicule and hold in contempt the teachings of the doctor. He who saw with such clear vision in other lines was blind in this, and because of his prominent position, paralyzed the spirit of investigation for many years. First hindered by the superstition of the ignorant, this unseen force was next hindered by the narrowness and bigotry of the higher educated.

First Glimpse of Electric Light.

But a better day came, when Guericke, by touching a rapidly revolving ball of sulphur, created a spark and caught the first glimpse of an electric light. There came a better day when Stephen Gray after rubbing a glass tube, found that its cork attracted bits of paper, and saw that electricity might be transmitted. Stretching a long hempen thread, suspended by loops of pack thread, he tried to transmit the electricity, but failed. Exchanging the pack thread for loops of silk he tried again, and as the electricity generated by rubbing a glass tube was transmitted seven hundred and sixty-five feet. That taught the possibility of conductors and insulators. Then came Kleist and Leyden, who discovered that electricity could be accumulated and stored away in jars. Then came Franklin, who brought the lightnings from the skies to sparkle like polished gems about his fingers. Then came Galvani, who discovered that the battery would furnish a steady flow of energy without the use of friction. Then came Volta, to prove that electricity could be condensed. Then came Oersted with his discovery. With a charged wire he found that, though there be no contact he could cause the needle in the compass to swing back and forth as he desired. In that discovery he saw the possibility of transforming electricity into a working energy, and in the swinging needle he saw the whirling wheels of car and factory. Then came a new era in which Humphrey Davy swung the arc light upon the street, and Morse compelled the telegraph keys to repeat men's thoughts, and Bell taught the telephone to repeat men's words, and Edison imprisoned the lightning in the incandescent, and Roentgen discovered the penetrating powers of the X-rays. Thus did the unseen, unknown power of our fathers become our well known friend, heating our homes in the winter, and cooling them in the summer; pushing our carriages through the streets and our boats through the water; lifting our burdens, refining our food and healing our bodies.

God's Matchless Power.

As this silent unseen force was for centuries trying to receive recognition from the thoughtless generations, so the Divine One has been endeavoring to reveal Himself to the ones of earth. At first His manifestations were received with fear and superstition. Beholding the object through which He revealed Himself, men fell down and worshiped that object as the Greek fathers worshiped the amber. For years the Divine power that would inspire, was hindered by the idolatrous worship of ignorance. Then came an age when men, having a wider vision, saw that not only in one element but everywhere was felt and revealed His matchless power. He was in the sunlight and in the shadows, in the winds and waves, in the rainbow and the lightnings. In that hour when men were beginning to see the truth came the would-be scholar, and bigoted as the ignorant were superstitious, they laughed God out of nature, as Bacon laughed at the teachings of Gilbert. For ages the scientists reveled in their work, choosing an atom of protoplasm to a living, thinking, loving God. Looking at the most marvelous of God's manifestations they would say: "There is no God."

All Men Are Free.

Then followed a wiser generation. Like true scientists, they studied spiritual phenomena, gathering facts, and making discoveries. They saw how Abraham, walking through the open fields, in obedience to holy impulse, multiplied his influence a thousand fold and in his earnestness moved all Heaven to save his loved ones. They saw how Moses, through devotion to a higher ideal, with shining face, walked like a prince performing herculean tasks. They saw how Elijah, through faith in an unseen power, was able to change the wilderness into a garden where he feasted. As Gilbert studied the gems and ores, as Faraday studied the electric spark, and as Franklin wound his kite string about the thunder bolt and held it captive that he might see into its very depth, so these men gathered facts from these holy men until they discovered the laws of God. They found laws of prayer, laws of faith, laws of sacrifice, and laws of consecration. Thus did they usher in before us the brightest period of the world's history. No longer superstitious, all men are free. No longer are spiritual truths looked upon as works of magic, but the working of a great Power that has come to aid them. God is manifested everywhere. Looking at the rocks the geologist exclaims: "I have found the footsteps of God!" Looking at the human body with its beauty of form and skill of workmanship the physiologist asserts: "I have found the finger marks of an all wise God!" Watching the movement of the stars the astronomer cries out: "I am thinking the very thoughts of God!" Everywhere in nature there are manifestations of God. Everywhere in human history is seen the movement of His guiding hands.

You Shall Find God.

How then may you and I discover this great unseen one, whose resources may be ours? Exactly as you utilize the electrical powers all about you, by being scientific in your method. Do not close your eyes to spiritual phenomena. There is a power that converts as seen in 10,000 Christian lives. There is a power in communion with God as seen in thousands of answered prayers. There is a comfort and strength in worship as is seen in the millions that weekly attend the church. There is a power in this old book of law and love. Be scientific, take note of these and discover the law that is back of them, then put yourself in harmony with that law, and you shall find God.

Blessed Are the Pure in Heart.

Each new step in science is marked by some new obedience to some old law, which might have been ignored. In spite of all that has been done we may ignore them now, but doing so the arc light goes out in darkness and the telephone becomes dumb. By obedience, the arc light will guide you home and the telephone will speak to you in the accents of a far-distant friend. Greater obedience on the morrow will reveal some still greater discovery or invention. That is the way to find God, for He reveals Himself to us only as we put ourselves in harmony with His law. He is here. You dare not deny His existence any more than you can deny the existence of electricity. His manifestation in the saving of a sinner is as great as the manifestation of electricity in the telegraph. Accept His laws. To refuse is as foolish as to refuse to use the telephone because you did not invent it. Study and keep them and soon you shall find a Divine power surging through your heart and life, and looking up you shall behold the face of God. Listen! From the Galilean hill sides I hear a voice speaking to those in the darkness seeking God! What says it? Listen. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." By obedience to the commandments, by purity of thought and action one can come in touch of God.

MUNCIE OIL FIELD MADE BIG SHOWING

Year's Production of Trenton Limestone Territory is Valued a t$26,069,322.21.

Average Price Paid $1.08 1-4—Large Incraese Was Due to Gusher in Deep-Sand Pools Near This City.

Marion, Indiana, Jan. 13.—During the year 1904 the oil wells in the Trenton limestone fields of Indiana and Ohio produced 24,073,050 barrels, valued at $26,069,322.21. The average price paid was $1.08¼. Land owners received about six million dollars for their royalties and the rest was received by the land owners. The product was divided as follows:

State	Runs. Bbls.	Valuation.
Indiana	$10,744,849	$11,305,688.26
N. W. Ohio ..	13,328,201	14,763,633.95
Totals	$24,073,050	$26,069,322.21

The shipments of oil and the valuation for the same period were.

State.	Ship. Bbls.	Valuation.
Indiana	$ 9,055,163	$ 9,670,501.53
N. W. Ohio ..	16,896,929	18,716,940.27
Totals ...	$25,952,092	$28,387,441.80

The shipments were 1,879,042 barrels greater than the production, hence, that amount of oil was drawn from surplus stock, and upon that comes a slash in the market values of the product, which cannot thus be accounted for.

Muncie Field a Factor.

The production of the Indiana wells for the year proved the largest year's output in the history of the field. Less than 700,000 barrels were produced in January and February, but from that on the production increased rapidly, due to the many gushers found in the Muncie deep-sand pools. The production of the wells and the average runs each month for the year 1904, with its valuation, is as follows:

Mo.	Runs, Average.	Runs, Bbls.	Valuation.
Jan. ...	22,778	683,334	$ 895,167.57
Feb. ...	22,216	644,284	$ 811,784.84

It shows that in the last year 290,455 barrels of oil and 201,300 barrels of gasoline were inspected, affording the state in the shape of fees half of the total of $66,628.10 collected. In Indianapolis 56,769 barrels of oil and 40,445 barrels of gasoline were inspected. The fees on this amounted to $10,641.

The Portland Oregonian is sending to its friends in the East a sample of newspaper making in the way of a special edition which it got out recently, advertising the Lewis and Clark centennial to be held in that city beginning June 1. There is no denying the fact that the papers of the extreme West can set the pace for their slower moving contemporaries in the East, and the Oregonian is in the lead of these Western journals. A noticeable thing about the Western papers is the fact that the merchants out there know how to advertise, and as it is known of all men that some of the most successful merchants of the world do business on the Pacific slope, their example might be profitably followed by their Eastern brothers.

IMPEACHMENT UNDER DISCUSSION

Dramatic Debate on Swayne Case in the House of Representatives.

Swayne's Court "Reeking With Scandals"—Lamar and Littlefield Engaged in a Sharp Verbal Tilt.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—The house of representatives today devoted its entire session to discussion of the impeachment charges against Judge Charles S. Swayne of the northern district of Florida. A dramatic incident occurred when Mr. Littlefield of Maine called on Mr. Lamar, of Florida, who filed the charges against the judge, to admit or repudiate an alleged interview which the former claimed tended to incite the people to commit an act of violence against Judge Swayne. Mr. Lamar admitted giving an interview but emphatically denied any suggestion from him that could be construed into advising assassination or murder.

Referring to the real estate transaction of Judge Swayne in Pensacola Mr. Palmer said that no other judge on earth would have done such a thing. Judge Swayne's court, he said, was reeking with bankruptcies, scandals and suicides, and he did not believe the judge had a friend in his district.

"Slander on Judiciary."

Mr. Palmer vehemently declared that the statements that other judges than Swayne had charged $10 a day for expenses were a slander on the judiciary of the United States. "There is not," he said, "a syllable of testimony in this record or anywhere on earth that any judge ever did this thing but Judge Swayne." To refuse to support the impeachment charges Mr. Palmer exclaimed, would make the members of the house the laughing stock of the United States.

Turning his attention to Mr. Lamar (Fla.), who filed the original charges, Mr. Littlefield, (Me.), quoted from the interview in which Mr. Lamar is alleged to have said that the people of Florida had stood Judge Swayne just about as long as they could and that he was going to tell congress that if some action was not taken to relieve the people of Florida Judge Swayne's life would be in danger.

Mr. Lamar said that any language imputing to him the statement that Judge Swayne's life was in danger was absolutely incorrect.

Mr. Lamar declared that he stated in the interview "that if nothing appealed to Judge Swayne, neither law nor humanity, in his own lawless career, then I would point out to him the fact that his action might result in some ill ordered brain or some revengeful brain that suffered at his hands inflicting violence upon him."

Arbitrary and Tyrannical

Mr. Littlefield said it grieved him profoundedly that a member of the house had preached "incitement to assassination and murder."

"I deny any suggestion of violence to Judge Swayne," exclaimed Mr. Lamar, who further said that "the fact that he has remained in my state so long secure, in his lawless career is evidence of that."

"I protest here and now," exclaimed Mr. Littlefield, "that no language put into public prints and read by the common people and which urges assassination or incitement to murder is trivial in its character."

Mr. Lamar was promptly on his feet and declared that while he did not think Mr. Littlefield intentionally charged him with inciting murder, Mr. Littlefield certainly had almost blindly misapprehended what really was said. "If, said Mr. Lamar, any one used his language in the interview to impute that he suggested violence to Judge Swayne he would denounce it as a malicious falsehood.

W. J. BRYAN ON THE FUTURE

He Discusses the Political Principles That He Thinks Democracy Should Advocate.

At the Jackson day banquet in Lafayatte a few evenings ago, W. J. Bryan was the last and principal speaker. He gave utterances to the following significant remarks:

"What the democratic party most needs today is to be animated by the spirit of Andrew Jackson as it approaches pending problems. It suffered overwhelming defeat last November and the prime cause of that defeat is to be found in the fact that it lacked this spirit. It cannot hope either to win or deserve success until it becomes in reality a Jackson party and like Old Hickory, is ready to take the people's side of every question without stopping to count the cost or to measure the prospects of immediate success.

"The party's position upon the labor question is the only one consistent with the party's purpose. The government cannot be made or administered in the interests of a class. It must protect each citizen in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and guarantee to each citizen a just share of the joint product of that which he helps to bring into existence.

"And what of finance? The gold democrats blame the silver plank for the defeats of 1896 and 1900. I hope that no one will attempt to make silver the scapegoat again. Judge Parker declared himself unqualifiedly for gold and nearly every silver democrat prominently identified with recent campaigns supported the ticket in order to secure the other reforms for which Judge Parker stood and yet the party polled a million and a quarter less votes than it did in either of the two preceding campaigns. While the increased production of gold has increased the volume of money, and brought in part the relief that bimetallism would have brought to a larger degree, yet some phase of the money question is always before the country and the irrepressible conflict between the money power and the masses can never be safely ignored. Even now there is a measure before congress, the object of which is to convert about six hundred million silver dollars into promises to pay gold and this is but a step in the plan to retire the silver dollars and leave gold the only standard money. When the plan is complete, legislation will have destroyed all the benefits which we have derived from the increased production of gold.

"Not only must the city own the natural monopolies of the city, but the nation and the state must for the same reason, follow the same course in regard to the monopolies that come within their sphere of operation.

"The party's position on imperialism has been stated in two national platforms and I do not see how the party can recede from the position. Colonialism is antagonistic to the principles of a republic and we cannot stand before the world as the representative of doctrines that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and at the same time declare for the permanent holdings of distant islands under a government resting purely upon force.

"The party's position upon the trust question is the only correct one. That a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable ought to be accepted as an axiomatic truth and a sincere belief in that truth will lead our party to favored legislation both civil and criminal, which will effectively protect the public from the evils of private monopoly.

"The party's position in favor of tariff reform cannot be abandoned with conceding the right of the government to tax those who consume the products of protected industries in order to enrich the owners of those industries. It is suggested that we are to have a tariff commission to investigate and report upon tariff revision, but as that commission will necessarily report in favor of a protective tariff or a revenue tariff the question at last be fought out in Congress, and the commission will simply delay action with out materially affecting the result.

Income Tax is Necessary.

"The tariff cannot be considered without considering the income tax, for no general reduction of tariff can be made without either a large decrease in the expenses of the government or the establishment of the income tax. The consolidation of railroads, the giving of rebates, the making of discriminations, the watering of stocks, the charging of excessive rates and a corruption of public officials—all these are combining to force upon the public the consideration of the railroad question. President Roosevelt is just now entering upon a contest for the regulation of railroad rates, and the Democrats ought to heartily support him in the position he is taking. If, with Democratic assistance, he succeeds in securing more strict regulations of the railroads engaged in interstate commerce the public will receive the benefit and the Democratic party will share in the credit. If, even with Democratic assistance, he fails, the Democratic party will profit by the educational work which he is doing and the railroad question will be made still more acute.

"While I am anxious that the virtue of government supervision and regulation shall be fully tried, I find myself inclined to the belief that public ownership is the only permanent cure for the evils which have grown out of the management of the great arteries of trade by a few individuals who have only their own pecuniary interests in view and who exploit the public to the extent that the traffic will bear it. I believe that the federal ownership of trunk lines and the state ownership of the network of local railroads will furnish a solution of the problem. State ownership of the many local lines would give the people the benefit of public ownership without the dangers of centralization, and the federal ownership of trunk lines answer the purpose of interstate commerce.

"It is for the members of the Democratic party to deal with these and similar questions with the courage that Jackson displayed in dealing with the questions which confronted his generation. That Democratic principles are sound does not, among Democrats at least, admit of dispute, for they rest upon belief in the brotherhood of man. That these principles will triumph cannot be doubted by those who believe in their truth, for truth is mighty and must at last prevail."

WAS A HAPPY AFFAIR

Installation of G. A. R. Officers at the Auditorium Last Night.

Ladies Who Will Have Charge of the W. R. C. Affairs, Also Inducted Into Office.

The joint installation of the officers of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Women's Relief Corps at the Auditorium last evening was listened to and enjoyed to the ortent by the many friends of these two organizations.

For the occasion the spacious room had been draped in the national colors and was otherwise appropriately decorated for the occasion.

E. M. MOULTON,
STATE COMMANDER.

The ceremonies, always impressive, were in charge of recruiting officers of distinction—General E. M. Moulton, State Commander; J. Cory Winans, on the staff of the National Commander and Sarah D. Winans, past National Commander of the Woman's Relief Corps.

The work was in charge of Mrs Sarah D Winans, and the following named persons were inducted into office

President, Amanda J Sullivan.

Senior vice president, Jennie Dobbins

Junior vice president, Urania Heffner.

Secretary, Rose Toy

Treasurer, Anna Willower

Chaplain, Angie Kellar

Assistant guard, Anna Morris.

Assistant Conductor, Laura Lonthan.

Color bearers, Mariette Moulton, Harriet Reynolds, Irene Jones, Caroline Hubbard

Patriotic instructor, Elizabeth Allen.

Press correspondent, Frances A. Propst

Musician, Rosa M Toy.

The intricate evolution of this work were performed without a hitch and received a burst of applause from the audience, seated in the gallery and in seats arranged along the walls on the last floor. Following came the installation of officers of the post under the direction of the visiting commanders of the G A R. The new officers of Armstrong Post are,

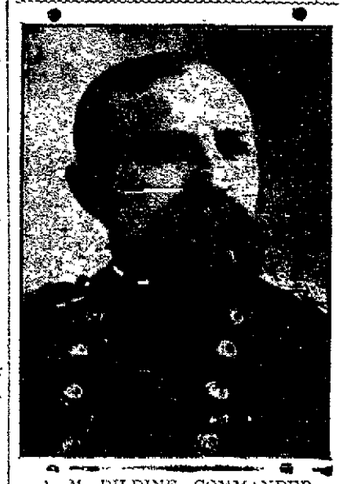

Commander, A M Dildine.

Adjutant O M Hollister

Senior vice commander, G E Copeland

Junior vice commander, I W Speer.

Officer of the day, J H. Ney.

Officer of the guard, George Bowers.

The music furnished by the Euterpean orchestra was one of the features of the evening's entertainment. The orchestra, which is from the South Side, was made up of the following talented players: Pianist, Mrs R E Haines; violins, Miss Loyola Hartman and Harley Kesler, bass, F M. Calvert, flute and piccolo, George Linderman, cornet, Ralph Leckhead

Miss Ida Kieffer, Mrs W D. Hammond, E. E Clipper and C. H. Bogardus, all of the South Side, made up one quartet which added in making the work most enjoyable, while Mr. and Mrs E. F. Davis, Miss Helen Badeau and Dell Mullin comprised the members of another quartet which gave splendid service

Preceding the installation of the officers of the post, the orchestra rendered "For Ole Flag" and Dr S A Baxter made an address. The services were interspersed with war songs and remarks made by J. Cory Winans, Commander Moulton and Mrs Winans. One of the interesting ceremonies of the evening was the presentation to Armstrong post of eleven caps trimmed in gold lace for the officers. This was in recognition of the thirty new members who have been added to the roll of the organization. The reward was offered to the post securing 21 recruits, and Lima's G. A. R. outstripped the limit. Just before the presentation Miss Keller sang a beautiful solo, "She Was a Soldier's Sweetheart," and the entertainment concluded with the playing of "America" by the orchestra. It was one of the most successful installations ever held by Mart Armstrong post.

MEETING

AT MARKET STREET PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH LAST NIGHT WAS AN INTERESTING ONE.

The story of the young man who came to Jesus to see what was needed to make life complete was told with interest. And the story was fittingly and vividly applied to the life of the christians of today, the words of the text being "What lack I yet?"

The best teacher is one who can ask the question of which the student does not know the answer. Christ did not tell the student the lack. He told the young man what to do to become perfect. Christ loved the young man, but found him lacking in one thing.

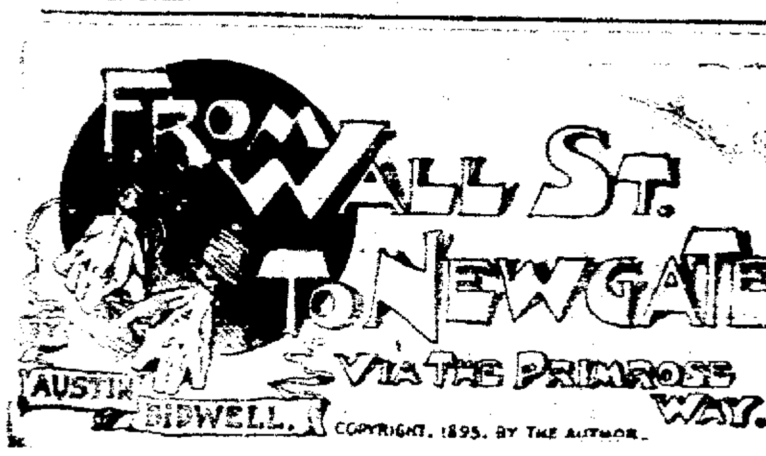

The church today apparently lacks just one thing and we should set about supplying that. The sermons are full of soul-stirring earnestness and anyone present is being filled with a knowledge of Christ. The thoughts are such as cause one to examine self and ask the question: "What lack I yet?" You should be there tonight.

Lunsford, Tampa, Fla. The officials of the company are W. G. Brorein, president; W H Hauss, vice president and secretary, Guy Huffman, treasurer, and J. J. Lunsford, attorney. It was decided to enlarge the plant at Tampa and a number of other cities and to construct more toll lines, including an extension of the toll lines of the company north to Jacksonville, Fla

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

[illegible] is given to the rumor that the Spanish government has concluded to grant the extradition of Austin Bidwell, now under arrest in Havana. There seems to be no doubt that Bidwell is the mysterious Frederick Albert Warren, and there is a very general curiosity to see him. Many conflicting stories have been published of his extraordinary escape and equally extraordinary capture. The Times' report had it that he was mortally wounded and that he had on his person when captured diamonds to an enormous value, which had disappeared soon after. Sergeants Hayden and Green of the Bow street force and Mr. Good of the Bank of England sail on the Java tomorrow to escort Bidwell to London.

So the web was closing in on me. Of my daily sad interviews with my wife I will say nothing here. In due time Green, Hayden and Good arrived and were introduced to me. I did not give in, but made, by the aid of my friends, a hard fight to persuade the captain general to suspend the order for my delivery and succeeded for a time.

At last, after many delays and many plans, early one May morning I was taken to the mouth of the harbor. There the boat of the English warship Vulture was in waiting, and I was formally transferred to the English government, and Pinkerton, Curtin, Perry, Hayden and Green went on board with me. Soon after she steamed out of the harbor. Later in the day the Moselle, the regular passenger steamer to Plymouth and Southampton, came out, and about ten miles out at sea was met by the Vulture's boat, and I and my five guardians were transferred to her.

At last I was off for England, and it looked very much as if justice would weigh me in her balance after all, the more certainly because I found my wife on the Moselle. I had secretly resolved never to be taken back, but intended the first night out of Havana to jump overboard, possibly with a cork jacket or something to help keep me afloat. The waters of the gulf were warm, there were many passing ships, and I would take my chance of surviving the night and being picked up. But very cleverly Curtin decided to send my wife with me and treat me like any other cabin passenger, rightly divining I would not kill her by committing suicide or going over the side on chances.

I was well treated all the way over, but every night my prayer was that we might run on an iceberg or go down, so that my wife might be spared long years of agony, and I the misery and degradation of prison life.

I had obtained a position in Havana for one of my servants, but Nunn was returning with me, feeling very bad and most unhappy over the sure prospect of my future misery. I was pleased to think he had held on to the money I had given him. Altogether he was quite $2,000 ahead, and I wanted to make it $5,000. He certainly deserved it for his constancy and affection.

One lovely June day we sailed into Plymouth, there to land the mail and such passengers as wanted to take the express to London. I instructed my wife to go to Southampton, while I went ashore with my guardians.

From the London Times, June 10, 1873:

"Among the passengers who landed at Plymouth yesterday morning from the royal mail steamer Moselle was Austin Bidwell, otherwise F. A. Warren, in charge of Detective Sergeants Michael Hayden and William Green, accompanied by Captain John Curtin and Walter Perry of Mr. Pinkerton's staff. They were joined by Inspector Wallace and Detective Sergeant William Moss of the city police, who had come down from London the previous night to meet the steamer.

"It being known that Bidwell was expected from Havana in the Moselle, an enormous crowd assembled in Millbay pier to await the return of the steam tender with the mail in order to get a sight of the prisoner, and so great was the crowd that it was with some difficulty that Bidwell and his escort managed to reach cabs and were driven to the Duke of Cornwall hotel adjoining the railway station. They left by the 12:45 train for London. A crowd of 20,000 persons were present to see them off and cheered Bidwell heartily.

"Bidwell will be taken before the lord mayor in the justice room at the Mansion House this morning."

Accompanied by my escort of six, I arrived in London one bright morning just as the mighty masses of that great Babylon were thronging in their thousands toward Epsom Downs, where on that day the Derby, that pivotal event in the English year, was to be run. All London was astir and had put on holiday attire, while I, now a poor weed drifting to rot on Lethe's wharf, was on my way to Newgate.

Newgate! Then it had come to this! The Primrose Way wherein I had walked and lived delicately at the expense of honor ended here.

"Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," was written by one Paul. The wisdom of many was here and condensed in the wit of one, and one with shrewdest insight into things and a practical knowledge of human history.

I was a prisoner in Newgate. The very name casts a chill; so, too, does a sight of that granite fortress rising there in the heart of mighty London. Amid all the throbbing life of that great Babylon it stands—chill and grim—and has stood a prison fortress for 500 years. Through all those linked centuries how many thousands of the miserable and heartbroken of every generation have been garnered within its cold embrace!

What sights and sounds those old walls have seen and heard! As I paced its gloomy corridors that first night pictures of its past rose before me so grim and terrible that I turned shuddering from them only to remember that I, too, had joined the long unending procession ever flowing through its gates which had heaped its walls to the top with one inky sea of misery.

In the cruel days of old many a savage sentence had fallen from the lips of merciless judges, but none more terrible than the one which was to fall on us from the lips of their ferocious imitator, Justice Archibald.

I found my three friends already prisoners there, and a sad party we were. When we said goodby that night on the wharf at Calais, where we sat star gazing and philosophizing, we little anticipated this reunion.

What a rude surprise it was to find how things were conducted in this same Newgate! I took it for granted—since the law regarded us as innocent until we were tried and convicted—that we could have any reasonable favor granted us there which was consistent with our safe keeping. But, no. The system of the convict prison was enforced here and with the same iron rigor. Strict silence was the rule, along with the absolute exclusion of newspapers and all news of the outside world. The rules forbid any delicacy or books being furnished by one's friends from the outside. This iron system is as cruel as unphilosophical, for, pending trial, the inmates are more or less living in a perfect agony of mind, which drives many into insanity or to the verge of insanity, as it did me. How, then, can one find oblivion or raze out the written troubles of the brain save in absorption in books?

If I had the pen of Victor Hugo, what a picture I would draw of a mind consciously going down into the fearful abyss of insanity and making mighty struggles against it, yet looking on the cold walls shutting one in and weighing down the spirit, feeling that the struggle is ineffectual, the fight all in vain, for the dead, blank walls are staring coldly on you without giving one reflex message, bearing on their gray surface no thought, no response of mind, for they have been looked over with anxious care to discover if any other mind had recorded there some thought which would awake thought in one's own and help to shake off the fearful burden pressing one to earth. As a fact, a man so situated does—aye, must—make an effort to leave some visible impress of his mind as a message to his kind. It is a natural law, and the instinct is part of one's being. It is a passion of mind, a longing to be united to the spiritual mass of minds from which the isolated one is suffering an unnatural divorce by hideous material walls.

It is this law which makes the savage place his totem on the rocks, and it is, thanks to the same instinct, that this very day our savants are finding beneath the foundations of the temples and pal-then some thought, some message from their minds [illegible] impressed on the senseless clay would be communicated to some other mind and wake a response there.

Many a time, with brain reeling in agony, did I turn and stare blankly at those walls, and in a sort of dumb stupor search them over in hope to find some word, some message impressed there, some scratch of pen or finger nail—it might be a message of misery, some outcry of a wounded spirit, some expression [illegible]

GOVERNOR HERRICK

Will Attend Meeting of Interurban Association—Governor Hanley, Ex-Governor Durbin and Other Distinguished Men Expected.

(Dayton Journal.)

Dr. J. E. Lowes received a letter yesterday afternoon from Governor Herrick stating positively that he would be in attendance at the meeting of the Ohio Interurban Railway association, the sessions of which will be held at the Algonquin, January 26.

Assurances have also been received that Governor Hanley, ex-Governor Durbin and Attorney General Miller, of Indiana, would also attend the meeting, which will, according to all indications, be one of the most important in the annals of interurban lines.

Preparations are now being made for the reception and entertainment of the distinguished visitors and the throngs of traction men who will participate in the meeting. The various committees of the association are outlining their respective work and every detail for the arrangement of the meeting will probably be completed within a week.

SMOOT HOPES DELAY WILL SAVE HIS TOGA

Defense in the Committee Inquiry Evidently Blocking Progress Until Too Late for Senate Proper to Take Action.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Procrastination—delay because of the absence of witnesses, long painfully drawn out stories of inconsequential political affairs in Idaho, Wyoming and Utah—by such methods it is apparent that the defense in the Reed Smoot case hopes to have Congress adjourn March 4 before the Senate proper may have time to take up this Mormon case.

The witnesses yesterday in the committee hearing were three. Each is a politician, each a Gentile brought here to give oral certification of good character to the Mormons of the West. And they fulfilled the most fulsome hopes of Mr. Smoot and his friends.

TEN MILLION PEOPLE IN WANT IN UNITED STATES

Startling Figures Given by Eminent New York Sociologist.

New York, Jan 13.—Speaking as one who has made a thorough study of poverty in all its phases, Robert Hunter, former head of the University settlement and still interested in work among the poor, today declared that there are 70,000 children in New York who go to school hungry each day.

"These figures seem appalling even to me," said Mr. Hunter, "And I have made ten years study of poverty and ought by now to be used to conditions. But I cannot steel myself to truth. It is there in all its glaring sordidness and cannot be denied. In New York alone there are 660,000 people in distress."

It was when Mr. Hunter touched upon the country as a whole that its enormity is realized. Here are his figures:

New York.

Seventy thousand school children go to school hungry.

Six hundred and sixty-six thousand men and women in dire want.

Fifty-five thousand four hundred and sixty-three families evicted in Manhattan every year.

One out of every ten buried in potters' field.

United States.

Ten million people in want.

Four millions of these are paupers.

Two million men work only half time.

One million seven hundred thousand children are at work.

Five million women work in factories.

One million workers killed and injured yearly.

Authorized Representative of the Great Roads Speaks Against Fixing of Rates by Government.

Roads Satisfied With Commission—If Law Were Enforced, He Says There Would Be No Trouble.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railway, and authority to voice the sentiment of the New York Central, Erie, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and other railway companies, spoke vigorously yesterday before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce against the Cooper-Quarles bill or any proposition to authorize the interstate commerce committee to fix railway rates. Mr. Spencer is the first direct and official representative of the railways to be heard by the committee, and his testimony is regarded as the keynote of the opposition to rate fixing by the government.

Mr. Spencer stated at the outset that it was not his purpose to discuss the subject in its entirety. There were, however, a number of important points which he wishes to emphasize. The interstate commerce law and the commission, he said, had been in operation for 18 years. Before its operation the rebate, the secret contract and discriminatory devices of various kinds, were the rule. Now the reverse is the case. Rates are substantially maintained.

Same Opinion.

"There is no difference of opinion," continued Mr. Spencer, "between the railroads of the country, congress and the president on the subject that rebates are wrong. We agree with the president that "the highways of transportation must be kept open to all upon equal terms. On that basis the railway companies are ready and anxious to aid and co-operate. But I do not think any additional legislation is necessary in order to proceed against that particular class of abuses.

"That particular phase of regulation has already been pronounced by the commission as fully covered by existing statutes. It simply becomes a question of enforcement of the law.

Asking the question as to the necessity for the proposed legislation, Mr. Spencer answered it by viewing the situation as developed during the last 18 years. "About 90 per cent of all the claims or questions of various kinds which have been presented to the interstate commerce commission during that time have been adjusted without formal hearing and decision on the part of the commission. "That," he said, "does not indicate either a fight or non-cooperation on the part of the railroads."

Little Litigation.

Of the remaining ten per cent of the work of the commission, scarcely two per cent was the subject of litigation. Mr. Spencer said the railroads acquiesced in four-fifths of the decisions of the commissions. "Out of the 45 which went to litigation," he continued, "25 related to rates, and in 22 out of the 25 cases the decision of the commission was reversed by the courts.

"Does this indicate the necessity for legislation with respect to rates?" queried Mr. Spencer.

He expressed the confidence of the railroad world in the commission and said it was justly worthy of the respect of the country.

Mr. Spencer will continue his testimony tomorrow.

Anderson Ind Jan 13—When Coroner Trueblood investigated the death of Mrs Melissa Shelton aged 80 at Pendleton this afternoon he found no evidence of foul play but decided that the woman had been dead several days although not discovered until today She had lived alone for over 20 years and in all that time Township trustees steadily responded to her appeals for help

Searching the house the Coroner uncovered 4 unmade dress patterns 16 pairs of new shoes, 2 chests of fine linens and fine unused silk umbrellas several bolts of muslin 4 large jars of choice candy 3 large trunks full of trinkets and $20 in cash divided among several pocketbooks and bolts of carpet rags The search will be resumed tomorrow when it is thought more valuables will be found secreted about the aged woman's ...

IN FLAMES THE HERMIT RAN

Half a Mile to the Home of a Neighbor and Died

Waverly Ohio, Jan 13 - Wm Cox, an aged pioneer of this section living alone six miles in the country, last evening lay down and fell asleep in front of his fireplace. His clothing became ignited and on awakening he was unable to put out the fire Cox went outside and rolled in the snow, but without effect. He then ran for assistance to his nearest neighbor half a mile distant, leaving a trail of blood and flesh upon the snow

Upon his arrival he presented a frightful appearance, with his clothing burned off and his face and body horribly burned He fell unconscious to the floor and died this afternoon

LEAVE THE CITY WHEN PLACED UNDER ARREST FOR BEATING A BOARD BILL.

C. H. Hill, who says he represents Hetrick Brothers at Toledo, and who gives his business as a traveling salesman, was taken from the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton noon train today by an officer and escorted to the bastile and locked up charged with beating a board bill at the Lima House to the extent of $26.00. The prisoner, afer his arrest, told several different stories, one to the effect that he had been touched for $59 which was taken from his vest pocket. He will have a hearing before Mayor Robb tomorrow.

BRUTAL

Work of a Husband on East North Street.

ASSAULTS HIS WIFE IN A SHAMEFUL WAY AND IT'S NOW UP TO MAYOR ROBB TO SHOW HIM THE WAY.

Thomas Seymour, a good for nothing individual, a brutal husband, was locked up last evening on complaint of his wife whom he had brutally assaulted at their home on east North street. The little woman appeared in police court this afternoon with a badly swollen and disfigured face, and signed an affidavit charging him with assault.

He will be up before the Mayor this afternoon and His Honor will, no doubt, deal out the right sort 'o justice to him. About three hundred days hard labor at the Toledo works and $1,000 fine would be about right.
